- Showing your brand's expertise or sharing a Point of View (POV)
- Enhancing other brand marketing functions

2 DEFINE YOUR AUDIENCE

It's imperative to know who you're blogging for. When defining your audience, keep the following considerations in mind:

- What does your customer do?
- What are their goals?
- What are their challenges?
- Why would they not buy from you?
- What solution can you offer?

3 BRAINSTORM AND DEVELOP YOUR CONTENT IDEAS

There are numerous ways to develop relevant content for your audiences. Consider the following:

- Use your existing content, such as CEUs, white papers, customer presentations, etc.
- Conduct customer surveys or focus groups to learn what customers find useful
- Talk to your company's thought leaders to gain topic ideas
- Develop a list of the most common questions you get from customers
- Follow industry influencers to learn what they are writing about

- "Thought-Leadership" or "POV" Articles
- "How To" Articles
- "List" Articles
- "Expert Q&A" Articles

5 FORMALIZE YOUR PROCESS

Now it's time to formalize the process. This includes:

- Establishing Tracking and Measurement – Be sure to set up Google Analytics, HubSpot or other website tracking tools on your websites and blog pages
